About Me

Hi there! I'm Rama Permadoni, a passionate programmer and tech explorer who thrives on solving complex problems and discovering innovative solutions. With a friendly approach and genuine curiosity for technology, I enjoy turning ideas into reality through clean, efficient code.

My journey in tech is driven by continuous learning and the excitement of building products from zero to one. Apart from coding, I am also growing my own startup, Bahagia Space, where I combine technical skills with product management to solve real human problems.
